Fever

Honolulu has the improvement fever. Nevertheless, it is a sign of health. Tear down the shacks, lower the fences, but, above all, don't neglect to paint your property. Call on us and talk it over with us. Our color artist will be pleased to show you combinations and quote you prices—prices that won't break you, either.

Captain Niblack of the Naval Station has received authority from the Lighthouse Board at Washington to establish the lights at the Leper Settlement, Molokai, and at Ka Lae (south point of Hawaii) and Keahole (west point of Hawaii). The lighthouse sites were selected by Lieut. Slatery and the lights put up, but owing to there being no fund for the local lighthouse district the lights could not be operated until July 1. Some funds, however, have been scraped together from an overplus in other districts, and the lights will open up on March 1.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

The following affects the List of Lights and Fog Signals, Pacific Coast, 1904.

WASHINGTON.

Washougal Post Light, No. 157, page 36 (List of Lights, Buoys and Daymarks, Pacific Coast, 1906, page 63).—The characteristic of this light will be changed, February 1, from fixed red to fixed white.

Harrington Point Gas Buoy, after No. 106, page 39 (List of Lights, Buoys and Daymarks, Pacific Coast, 1906, page 57).—The characteristic of the light on this buoy will be changed, February 1, from fixed white during periods of 10 seconds, separated by eclipses of 10 seconds, to fixed white.

The following affects the List of Lights, Buoys and Daymarks, Pacific Coast, 1905.

WASHINGTON.

Willapa Bay Entrance, page 69.—Sand Island North End Buoy No. 4, and Sand Island Northeast End Buoy No. 6, each a red first-class nun, heretofore reported adrift, were replaced January 12.

Grays Harbor, page 74.—Cow Point Channel Buoy No. 5, a black third-class spar, reported adrift January 15, will be replaced as soon as practicable.

Puget Sound, page 79.—Point Piner Shoal Buoy No. 2, a red third-class nun, reported adrift, December 29, 1905, will be replaced as soon as practicable.

COSTLY SOLACE REPAIRS.

WASHINGTON, January 27.—The Navy transport Solace, now at Mare Island Navy Yard, will be generally overhauled as the result of a survey held recently. The report states that it will take about $100,000 to do all that is regarded as necessary, and the ship will be laid up for 100 days.

There is so much work in contemplation at Mare Island that it will be difficult, it is said at the Navy Department, to complete the Solace in the time estimated. In the meantime the Lawton is serving as a transport for the Navy, having been fitted out at a cost of $10,000 for the purpose.

manah, setting in. It is feared she will be lost. The vessel is believed to be the Admiral Corbet, a French bark. The bark was in sight all day and just after sundown drifted around a point and out of sight. It is not known if she went on the rocks or is anchored. She was in a dangerous position. The steamer Salvor has gone to her assistance.

NEW YORK, January 28.—The Admiral Corbet is a French bark of 1740 tons and is bound for Tacoma, from San Francisco, whence she sailed January 17.

T. K. K. AND P. M. S. S.

A recent London telegram published in Japanese papers stated that the Toyo Kisen Kaisha proposed purchasing four steamers from the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. In this connection, the Jiji says that when Mr. Harriman was visiting Japan the Japanese shipping firm asked him to sell the Siberia, Korea, Mongolia and Manchuria, and at the same time to transfer to them the service on the Pacific line. According to this journal, however, no definite negotiations have yet been set on foot. Mr. Shirasishi, manager of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, now in London, is said to be trying to raise a loan there which may be connected with this matter.—Kobe Herald.

A COAST ALOHA.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 20.—Frank M. Bell, the wealthy young yachtman of El Paso, Tex., owner of the yacht Aloha, is supposed to have returned home some days ago, leaving the Aloha in charge of her skipper, Captain A. J. Smith, anchored in the bay. Three attachments have been levied on the Aloha, and Captain Smith is worrying on account of back salary alleged to be due him. The first attachment served on the Aloha was taken out by the Murray Fixture Company of Los Angeles, and was for $435.

TEXAN DUE SATURDAY.

The A.-H. S. S. Texan is due from Seattle on Saturday morning. The vessel will load sugar at this port, 6150 tons; Kahului, 2900 tons; Hilo, 2150 tons; total, 11,200 tons. The vessel will then leave for Delaware Breakwater via the Horn. There may be some delay in the departure of the Texan from Honolulu, as there are only 1821 tons of sugar now piled up.

MANCHURIA EN ROUTE.

The S. S. Manchuria, according to advices received yesterday by Hackfeld & Co., left Yokohama during the morning for Honolulu and San Francisco. She is due here the morning of February 15 and may be dispatched for the coast the same afternoon. She has 1100 tons of freight for this port and will have accommodations for about 125 passengers.

GOVERNOR POTTS COMING.

The U. S. S. Supply is on the way from San Francisco to Guam, via Honolulu. She carries Commander T. M. Potts, the new naval governor of Guam, who replaces Captain Dyer, who is already on the mainland.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The S. S. Nebraskan sailed from Kahului for San Francisco February 3.

H. Davidson, wharfinger for the Oahu Ry. has recovered from a severe attack of inflammation of the stomach.

The tug Fearless has "blown down" her boilers for a day or two for repairs. Towing is being done by island boats.

The ship Kenilworth sailed yesterday morning for Hilo to complete her sugar cargo. She will then sail for Delaware Breakwater.

Captain Kelly expects to depart for the coast with his bark, the George Curtis, next Monday or Tuesday. She will carry a sugar cargo.

The 5-masted schooner Geo. E. Billings which is now en route from Tacoma to Sydney will load a cargo of coal at Newcastle for Honolulu.

The schooner Mary E. Foster arrived yesterday morning from Port Gamble with 1,100,000 feet of lumber. She had a slow passage of 32 days.

The schooner Helene has completed her sugar cargo at the Railway wharf and has shifted over to the Oceanic wharf where more sugar will be taken on.

The U. S. S. Iroquois departs on Friday for Molokai and Maui where Captain Niblack will make an inspection of lighthouses. The tug will return about Tuesday.

Capt. Bulger, Inspector of Hulls and Boilers, believes that the Hawaiian Islands are sufficiently important that a local inspector should be established here by Uncle Sam.

The dredger Governor working in the Alakea slip was out of commission yesterday for sometime owing to the parting of the heavy draw chain connecting the revolving, or winding-in, drum, with the big dipper.

While coming up to her wharf yesterday morning, the schooner Mary E. Foster, just arrived from Port Gamble, went aground near Allen's wharf. A portion of her cargo had to be unloaded to get the vessel off.

A marine detachment under Lieut. Harlee and Lieut. Bigler which went to the other side of the island last week, made a quick tramp in from Ahimau. They left the latter place in the forenoon of Saturday and arrived at the Naval Station at 2 p. m. This included a two hours' rest at the Pali for lunch.

Owing to Messrs. Bailes and Bulger, Federal inspectors of hulls and boilers, making inspections of various steamers in port, the Kinau was the only island vessel to leave yesterday at noon on time. The Likie was also held until late in the day. The steamer Ke Au Hou goes on her run to Kaula today.

The steamer Mauna Loa arrived from Kona and Kau ports yesterday morning with a good-sized list of passengers. The steamer encountered rough weather along the Kona coast, and was unable to discharge freight at Hookena and Holualoa. At Honokaa the Mauna Loa found the steamer Kaul which was unable to take in any freight on account of the heavy seas.

WORLD OWES HIM A LIVING

Stephanus McElroy Uses Strenuous Efforts to Collect.

Stephanus McElroy is the champion "rag" of Honolulu. There is no doubt whatever about it.

McElroy's slogan is that he wants to work but he can't get work and he's got no work to do.

This state of affairs has existed for months past and "Mac" has been arrested dozens of times for being without visible means of subsistence.

If more than a week elapsed after being released from quod without his being run in, he would hike to the police station and beg to be locked up.

At first the magistrate would send McElroy to the reef for one, two or three months, but after a time he refused to convict and discharged him, telling him to go and seek work.

McElroy didn't like this, for jail was his home. There he ate plenty, slept much and worked little, and at times of release would be hog fat.

For the past week "Mac" has been trying hard to get locked up, but the police have turned a deaf ear to his entreaties.

On Monday night, about 9 o'clock, he sauntered into the police station and asked to be allowed to register.

He looked quite smart and wore a canvas shooting jacket, black felt hat and nicely-whitened canvas shoes reinforced with leather.

"You go up and wait until Sheriff Vida comes in," said Receiving Clerk Baker.

McElroy ascended the stairs reluctantly, for he'd rather interview anyone but Vida, who is hard-hearted enough to turn him away and tell him to go labor on the humming wharves. Judge Whitney won't sentence the man any more and Vida says that he's no hotel-keeper.

On one occasion work was offered McElroy on the roads, but he declined with thanks, saying that he was getting too old for that kind of work.

On Monday night Vida was delayed in going to his office and McElroy got tired of waiting, so tripped down to the receiving station and said to the clerk:

"How long will he be, anyway? I'm very sleepy and would like to go to bed as soon as possible."

"You go upstairs and have a nice snooze until Henry comes," replied Baker.

McElroy, however, had vanished into the street, doubtless cursing the brutal inhumanity of the Police Department.

McElroy says that he has repeatedly applied for a job at the Kahukue military reservation, but has been told that there was nothing for him there in the line of work.

"They told me to come again," said McElroy. "I suppose all I can do is to wait for my turn. There are 396 on this list ahead of me."

This is evidently a case where the world owes a man a living and the creditor will see to it that the debt is collected.

CONEY ISLAND'S COLOSSAL TOWER

NEW YORK, January 20.—Coney Island will soon present to the world its crowning wonder, in the shape of an amusement tower 700 feet high, to contain at various altitudes a roof garden, hippodrome, dance hall, revolving cafe, observatory, palm garden and other amusement features, hundreds of feet in the air.

It is to be located on Surf avenue and is expected to be ready for the public in 1907. It will have a diameter of 300 feet and contain 500,000 feet of floor space.

The hippodrome will be 250 feet above the ground, the cafe and dance hall 300 feet, the palm garden 400 feet, and so on until the observatory and wireless telegraph station are reached, nearly an eighth of a mile above the noisy throngs in Coney's thoroughfares. It will be the tallest and largest structure of its kind ever erected and will be the first object seen by ocean travelers as they approach New York.

Ten of the largest electric elevators in the world will be built to lift and lower the crowds, and it is estimated that the tower will have a capacity for all the people who are likely to visit it. The cost will be about $1,000,000.

Ten cents is to be the admission fee, and it is estimated that the earnings capacity of the enterprise will be $1,353,000 each season, while the operating expenses are figured at only $230,750.

In the top of the structure is to be a Government weather bureau and the largest searchlights in the world. One floor, several hundred feet above terra firma, will be devoted to a roller skating rink. Music will be heard in all the principal places of amusement. The entire structure is to be festooned with electric lights.

CONUNDRUM SUPPER.

A conundrum supper at the Methodist parsonage last night, given by the Ladies' Aid Society of that church, was an event of ceaseless amusement with not a dull minute from first to last. The menu was such as none but the most accomplished could have composed. Confusion stamped the face of some as they scanned the items, but this was turned to delight as they sampled the various toothsome dishes. Too much praise can not be given the ladies for their efforts in making this one of the most successful efforts of the society.
